THE WISER WAY.

Strikes during wartime are inimical to the future welfare of the world. The cost of food and clothing has gone up at an alarming rate; the increase in wages has not kept pace. In many cases, laboring men are justified in their contentions for an increase of pay.

Down Flour Bluff way, ducks are already plentiful. They have moved southward unusually early. All the inlets and bays are sprinkled with sprigs, mostly young. Flock after flock gets underway, and in most instances it is impossible to tell the ducks from their partners, indicating that the advance showing is composed of the 1917 hatch.

Signs have failed. The prospect of a long war was never plainer. When England boasted of the drive in Flanders, much was expected of it. For England is sparing of words and seldom mentions military objects in ads.

FLORISTS BUSY.

There are very few human activities which have not been affected by the Great War, with its toll of life and supplies. Even seedsmen and florists have felt the strain for many plants and seeds have come to us from Europe.

Callers Called. TO THE CREDIT OF THE WOMEN. The women of Corpus Christi are devoting a considerable portion of their time to the Red Cross. Thousands of parcels of bandages are being cut and folded; hot socks are being knitted and sewed.

FOOLS THERE BE.

Premier Kerensky fares more than Korniloff the radicals are in control of the newly-established government. They demand that all representatives of the property-owning classes be excluded from positions of authority.

AN INJUSTICE COMMITTED.

It is our privilege to print a brief note from City Attorney Savage:

In your editorial on the bootlegging injunctions, you do an injustice to Mr. Taylor, the County Attorney, which I am sure you will be glad to correct. Mr. Taylor's action in the matter was not merely formal.

This is a statement of fact, and needs no further comment. It is pleasing to think that Mr. Taylor has engaged in the cases against Dennis Kelly and others. But, at the same time, we cannot help feeling that Mr. Taylor has been singularly remiss in the past, as the record testifies.

These complaints are based on straight out infractions of the law, capable of proof by responsible agents of the State. Before now, such cases have been presented, and their adjustment has been in the nature of a farce.

One man has submitted to a fine, usually, and others have been excused by agreement; and it is this sort of thing that has brought us to the point where we are unwilling to agree that Mr. Taylor is the man for the place. We entertain no grudge against Mr. Taylor; we shall be glad to cooperate with him in every way possible, and promise to support him through thick and thin if he will only deal more rigidly with violators of the law.

"The Story of Corpus Christi" BY MARY A. SUTHERLAND

"The Story of Corpus Christi" that the Caller is publishing in daily installments has been published in book form by Corpus Christi Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy. Copies can be secured at Corpus Christi Book and Stationery Co.

The first ball we have notice of was given by officers under General Taylor. Unfortunately some of the officers were mustered out, and will we expect notice were scarce. We remember seeing an article some years ago in one of our papers on a dance, and it described an invitation sent to Mrs. Holden, then a young maiden to attend this ball.

Later, many dances were given, and though most everyone enjoyed them, there is no record in the history of the city of any of them. The only record we have is a large square made of red and white paper, and some other things, but we have no record of any of them.

Divided into two main classes, those who ought to be in jail and those that believe a place in some good income section. When a woman was like a child, she was in jail, and those who were being crazy, who were good treatment, sympathy and love.

WHO SAID RABBIT?

Not to say little rabbit, but our garden is closed for the fall season. All these birds will be crowded to full extent of the garden. Corpus Christi Caller.

COMMERCIAL EXTERMINATORS.

P. H. Atwater of Houston is an entomologist. He knows all about birds and their habits and is a student of those delicate differences which a student of nature balance is likely to bring about.

AN ESTIMATE.

The Corpus Christi Caller is one of the able papers of Texas. Reflection, more than emotion, is shown in its editorial columns. The sentiment is glad to reproduce the expressions of the Caller dealing with the recent guard fence there.

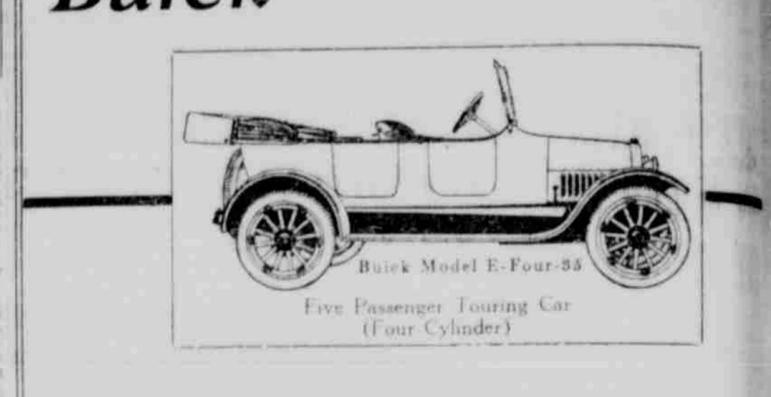

BIDS WANTED.

The Holston Independent School District will receive sealed bids to Sept. 22nd for a depositary for the school funds of said district for the school years 1917-18.
